Better pay the tax on your dog now. This tax, on dogs six months of age and over, was due and payable February first. Announcement has been made by the Department of Game and Inland Fisheries, which enforces this law through County Game Wardens, that persons who fail to pay this tax will be prosecuted with vigor. It will be recalled that a large number of persons owning dogs were prosecuted and fined last year for failure to pay this tax. The department, it is understood, desires that this tax be paid promptly so as to make prosecutions unnecessary. Failure to pay the tax is punishable with a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $100 with costs. The law provides that the tax, $1 on males and $3 on females, shall be paid to the county Treasurer.

Farm Loan Act Not Operating

Washington, May 3—Farm loan bank officials, meeting here today, agreed that expansion of the agricultural industry was daily being retarded through the inability of the system to make further advances to farmers. While the country awaits a rehearing of the suit testing the constitutionality of the act under which the system operates, it was stated that thousands of farmers were compelled to forego plans for extension or expansion of the crop planting plans.

The conference was called by Commissioner Lobdell, of the farm loan board, in order that a general survey of conditions confronting the banks and loan associations, could be made. It did not complete its work and the discussions will be continued tomorrow.

All members of the conference urged against another offer of farm loan bonds in the open market at this time. The opinion was held that a "cloud would hang over bonds so long as the act providing for their issue was in court." Officials believed, however, that congress would adopt the Ferris resolution empowering the treasury to absorb the board's next bond issue and thereby avoid an entire summer of inactivity so far as loaning operations are concerned.

Commissioner Lobdell said that many "pitiable cases" had come to the board's attention, due entirely to the fact that no further advances could be made to farmers who had depended on the system to supply funds to meet commercial loans. In certain instances, foreclosure had resulted, he said.

Buckingham

The grand rally came off at the high school here on Friday, April 30th. Mr. Eason was here and he did do some whole some talking to the school people, and as a result I hope a teacher will be employed to teach the girls how to cook, sew, &c., and then the girls will be as well provided for as the boys are in their agricultural department.

The public school examinations were held here on Friday and Saturday and Misses Farris, Spencer, Patteson, and the Misses Wood took the examination, while only two colored people tried.

Professor G. L. Brown has decided to give up teaching and expects to have charge of a church in some town in Kansas.

Judge A. S. Hall has gone to Richmond to a hospital, where it is probable he will undergo an operation.

The house of Mary Dickens, in the sparsely settled part of Buckingham county near Spears' mountain, was broken into last week and the officers, in looking for the young men charged with breaking into the house, came up to a plant that they said had evidently been operated as a moonshine still. United States Revenuemen came here and went to the scene, but it is not known whether they confiscated the property or not. F. W. Swan, Jr., was shot several times when he undertook to evade arrest. The Dickens woman, at whose house the trouble started, is said to be the same woman at whose house Constable Ed. Carter went just before he came to such a tragic end, during the trial of the Wright case here.

I forgot to mention in its proper place the sumptuous repast furnished by the ladies at the school rally.

As I write, Charles Barrell, jr. has a case of pneumonia at his home here and Mrs. Bettie Glover has been quite ill at the home of Mr. C. C. Johnson.

The terrible wind storm Friday evening and night did considerable damage to roofing and fencing, and at the home of Mr. P. A. Grigg a large tree was uprooted only a few feet from his house, but fortunately it fell parallel with the house and besides the breaking of the gutter and a small space of roofing no damage was done, and Mr. Grigg was so thankful that it was no worse.

All teachers are required to send in their school registers to the clerk of the school board when their schools close. This is census taking year and they are needed in connection with the census taking.

Miss Mellie Garrett, who has acted as postmaster at Allisonlevel postoffice practically ever since its establishment, is in extreme and her death is looked for at any time, and a postoffice inspector who has been here has directed the removal of the postoffice to the store of Mr. R. E. Newton, who was Miss Garrett's security on the official bond.

A merchant told me his one horse wagon came from the depot with a load of goods that cost him $1300. Irish potatoes reached a price of $7.50 a bushel and hard to get at that. Sugar retailing here at 25¢ a pound with the limit of 5 lbs. to each customer. Flour has advanced about $1 in the barrel. I heard a man decline to sell ten barrells of corn for $100 spot cash.

It is still distressing to see long lines of wagons heavy loaded with it it ties going to market, when the teams should be plowing for corn.

Hay was not to be had on the local market at any price last Saturday.

Charlotte Line

There is so much that could be said about the commencement and play at Red House school, that it is really hard to know just where to begin.

At the close of school the pupils and teachers acquitted themselves with honor and credit. The teachers were proud of their pupils.

I have been told that the entertainment or play given by the school was even better than the play given by the best talent of our village. This is saying a great deal, as "Kentucky Uncle Josh showed me what he said all his children and grandchildren cut teeth on. He had two molr feet tied to a chair and a silk cord fastened on them, to be worn around the neck. He said, "Maine is my chillun ever had any trouble cuttin dey teeth." Try it, ye mothers!

Uncle Josh is the proud owner of another swarm of bees. Aunt Patsy said she "had been bees to hive all by herself." She said: "Josh haint never forgot dem tother bees, so he tuck de hive an den he run in his house, shot do do' an tore de winder down, an den he groun right under de swarm of bees an put de gum on it an shake dem right in. Dat day was so I did; but stid of dey drap jin down, dey look like dey was hunting sumpin, an dey went roun an roun den took a shoot for Josh; and sich runnin up dem star steps you never heard. Josh was ever flyin, but de bees turned an went right in de gum."

So they now have two nice stands of bees.

I am very sorry to note that the Baptist church here is called upon to give up their pastor, Rev. Forpathy. He will leave this field in September. I fear they'll never find another like him.

Petty's Fork

A large crowd was at Central last Sunday. Sorry the preacher was sick. The congregation was disappointed.

Mrs. W. J. Fleshman was at the home of her brother, W. H. Ferguson, last Sunday.

Miss Eunice Woodson, from Lynchburg, spent Saturday and Sunday with her people.

Mr. C. R. Woodson, Mr. Wallace Woodson, Miss Eunice Woodson, Mrs J. L. Woodson and ruby Woodson took a flying trip to Appomattox Sunday.

Mrs. W. M. Wattles and children, a newspaper, attended to business with her brother, J. L. Woodson.

The gardens are looking badly on account of cold weather. We are afraid fruit is killed.

Word to the Women.

It may not beget undue attention, but 580,000 newbirths were made in the United States last year. It would be pleasant mental recreation for a long evening to figure how many hours of labor, based on the proverb that a stitch in time saves nine, would have been saved the women of the nation if all these needless had been applied at the psychological moment.

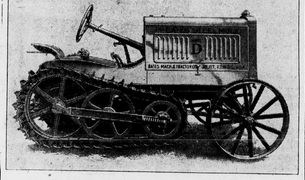
Every Inch of the Bates Steel Mule is Thoroughbred



The United States government by means of the Department of Agriculture, has been looking into the tractor question, and its bulletins clearly proves that the satisfied tractor owner—men who say that the tractor has paid—are men who own the BETTER CLASS of tractors. The successful man has learned years ago that he can't get something for nothing. No one can. The reason the BATES STEEL MULE costs more is that it is worth more. Skilled factory procedure, quantity production and the most modern Machinery enables us to save money at every turn, yet the BATES STEEL MULE cost slightly more in the beginning to build but considerably less in the long run to own. It's just another case where a seemingly higher priced article is far cheapest to own when you come to actually USE it.

The Bates thoroughbred quality comes not from mere claims, but from what's put into it. Every part that goes to make up the BATES STEEL Mule is put there by long field experience. There is'nt a part that is'nt time-tried and tested. There is'nt a part that experience has'nt dictated the shape and size of; and in it all there is'nt one superfluous part, 'nor one part that is'nt capable of standing up under twice the strain it gets in actual use. These are things experience and practice have distracted. The BATES comes to you as a fulfilment of your desire for a tractor that will endure. Price is what we pay for a thing. Value is what we get out of it. Consider your tractor from what you will get out of it, consider how many working days you have when the ground is wet, consider the operations where you can not afford to pack your seed bed, and consider how constantly and economically they must be performed even in rush times, you will then see why the BATES STEEL MULE is the biggest value offerd in any tractor on the American market today.
